Please Join Us
Wednesday, October 23, 2013
at our GSCS Fall Workshop Open Meeting
Atlantic City Convention Center, Room 412
1-2:30 p.m.

Find out how GSCS promotes quality accountability and quality affordability for New Jersey public schools via public awareness, advocacy and ongoing information exchanges with policymakers. Meet Assembly Education Committee members Dave Wolfe, Mila Jasey and Troy Singleton, all of whom will be stopping by.

Hear a summary of the organization's focal points for 2013-14:

Effectiveness of Teaching and Learning

- Impact and feedback of the new teacher evaluation system
- PARCC testing and Common Core integration

Conflicts of Providing Required Programs and Services with Limited Revenues

- Inflexible 2% tax levy cap impedes expansion of education and support program requirements
- Providing required services for special education and impact on regular education programs

Garden State Coalition of Schools is a non-partisan, non-profit education advocacy organization led by a highly motivated, volunteer membership of superintendents, business administrators, board members, and parents. Grassroots in its decision-making, the approximately 100 member districts, primarily suburban, span the state from Camden County to Bergen County and include a range of economic levels.
